MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL.

VOLUME VIII.—NEW SERIES. MILWAUKEE, THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 20, 1852. WHOLE NUMBER 2306.

Milwaukee Daily Sentinel.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING, (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED,) BY

RUFUS KING & CO.,

AT THE OFFICE,

Nos. 205 & 207 EAST WATER STREET,

CORNER OF WISCONSIN STREET,

IN THE SECOND, THIRD, AND FOURTH STORIES OF LUDINGTON'S NEW BRICK BLOCK.

TERMS:

THE DAILY SENTINEL will be left at the door of City Subscribers at SIX DOLLARS a year, payable Quarterly or 50 Cents a Month; or, 12½ Cents a Week, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TRI-WEEKLY SENTINEL—THREE DOLLARS a year, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE, AND THE PAPER DISCONTINUED WHEN THE PERIOD FOR WHICH IT IS PAID, EXPIRES.

WEEKLY PAPER—TWO DOLLARS a year, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE, AND THE PAPER DISCONTINUED, WHEN THE PERIOD PAID FOR WHICH IT IS PAID EXPIRES. To CLUBS of TEN or MORE, TO ONE ADDRESS, the Weekly will be sent for ONE DOLLAR A COPY.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS.

IN ORDER that there may be no misunderstanding in relation to Advertising, we here state the rates determined upon in our daily papers, from Jan. 1st, 1851:

1 square (per year)	$12 00	1 square,	2 weeks,		$2 75
1 "	9 months,	10 50	1 "	1 "	1 50
1 "	6 "	8 00	1 "	1 "	1 00
1 "	3 "	5 00	1 "	4 "	1 25
1 "	2 "	3 50	1 "	3 days,	0 90
1 "	6 weeks,	4 50	1 "	2 "	0 75
1 "	1 month,	4 00	1 "	1 "	0 50
1 "	3 weeks,	3 50

Twelve lines Nonpareil (or less) make a square. Leaded Advertisements, "after reading matter," 50 per cent. advance on the above rates.

One square, for a year, with a change once a week, $25; 2 squares, $50; 1 col. with a change every day, $250; 2 cols., $100; 3 cols. with four changes a year, $225. (DAILY PAPER NOT EXCEPTED.) No paper will be discontinued (unless at the discretion of the publishers) until all arrearages are paid.

Persons wishing to discontinue their yearly or casual advertising, must give notice at the Counting Room. All yearly advertisers discontinuing their advertising before the year is out, will be charged at the above rates.

The privilege of Annual Advertisers is limited to their own immediate business, and all advertisements for the benefit of other persons, or on other business, must be paid for at the usual rates.

Communications, the effect of which is to promote private interests, to be paid for at the rate of 50 Cents per square for a single insertion.

In all cases where advertisements are sent in, marked "DAILY AND WEEKLY," they will be charged 50 Cents per square for the first insertion, and 25 Cents for each subsequent insertion in the Weekly.

Advertisements not accompanied with written directions, will be inserted one month, and charged accordingly.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO'S

SODA SALÆRATUS

MAY be found at the Sugar Warehouse of Goodrich & Hunter, No. 42 East water-st.

The attention of the public is called to this article as being superior to Pearlash Saleratus in its effect—in making cookery a more delicate appearance and flavor; and also as more wholesome—Soda being more congenial to the human system than Potash. It is more economical than Pearlash Saleratus—less quantity being required to produce the same effect. The article is put up in pound papers with full directions for use.

Also may be found, John Dwight & Co's

Washing & Cleansing Powders,

which will be found, on trial, a very superior article, saving much labor of washing Clothes, &c. It will soften hard water.—Engineers and Machinists it is invaluable for removing grease from Machinery and other iron works leaving the iron perfectly dry, and not liable to rust.

Directions for use are printed on each package.

THE BATTLE OF IVRY.

BY T. B. MACAULAY.

Now glory to the Lord of Hosts, from whom all glories are!
And glory to our sovereign liege, King Henry of Navarre.
Now let there be the merry sound of music and of dance,
Through thy sunnyvines and cornfields green, O pleasant land of France! [waters!
And thou, Rochelle! our own Rochelle! proud city of the Again let rapture light the eyes of all thy mourning daughters.

As thou wert constant in our ills, be joyous in our joy;
For cold, and stiff, and still, are they who wrought thy walls annoy. [war!
Hurrah! Hurrah! a single field hath turned the chance of Hurrah! Hurrah! for Ivry, and Henry of Navarre!

Oh! how our hearts were beating, when, at the dawn of day,
We saw the army of the League drawn out in long array,
With all its priest-led citizens, and all its rebel peers,
And Appenzel's stout infantry, and Egmont's Flemish spears.
There rode the brood of false Lorraine, the curses of our land,
And dark Mayenne was in their midst, a truncheon in his hand;
And, as we looked on them, we thought of Seine's empurpled flood,
And good Coligny's hoary hair, all dabbled with his blood;
And we cried unto the living God, who rules the fate of war,
To fight for his own Holy Name, and Henry of Navarre.

The King has come to marshal us, in all his armor dressed,
And he has bound a snow white plume upon his gallant crest;
He looked upon the traitors, and his glance was stern and high—
He looked upon his soldiers, and a tear was in his eye—
Right graciously he smiled on us, as rolled from wing to wing
Down all our line, the deafening shout—"God save our lord the King."
"And, if my standard-bearer fall, as fall full well he may,
"For never saw I promise yet of such a bloody day—
"Press where ye see my white plume shine amid the ranks of war,
"And be your oriflamme to-day the helmet of Navarre."

Hurrah! the foes are moving! hark! to the mingled din
Of fife, and steed, and trump and drum, and roaring culverin!
The fiery Duke is spurring fast across St. Andre's plain,
With all the bleeding chivalry of Guelphres and Allemaine;
"Now, by the lips of those ye love! fair gentlemen of France!
"Charge! for the golden lilies now! upon them with the lance!"
A thousand spears are striking deep; a thousand spears in
A thousand knights are pressing close behind that snowy blent. [rest,— [ing star,
white crest;
And in they burst, and on they rushed, while, like a guiding
Amidst the thickest carnage blazed the helmet of Navarre.

Now, God be praised! the day is ours; Mayenne hath turned his rein;
D'Aumale hath cried for quarter, the Flemish Count is slain.
Their ranks are breaking like thin clouds before a Biscay gale;—
The field is heaped with bleeding steeds, and flags, and cloven mail.
And then we thought of vengeance, and, all along our van,
"Remember St Bartholomew!"—was passed from man to man.
But out spake gentle Henry—"No Frenchman is my foe!
"Down! down with every foreigner,—but let your brethren go!"
Oh! was there ever such a knight, in friendship or in war,
As our sovereign liege, king Harry, the soldier of Navarre?

Ho! maidens of Vienna! Ho! matrons of Lucerne!
Weep! weep! and rend your hair, for those who never shall return.
Ho! Philip! send, for charity, thy Mexican pistoles,
That Antwerp monks may sing a mass for the poor spearmen's souls. [bright!
Ho! gallant nobles of the League! look that your arms be Ho! burghers of St. Genevieve! keep watch and ward tonight! [the slave,
For our God hath crushed the tyrant, our God hath raised
And mocked the counsel of the wise, and the valor of the brave.
Then glory to His holy name, from whom all glories are,
And glory to our sovereign liege, King Henry of Navarre!

The Nile—A Rival of the Mississippi.

BAYARD TAYLOR, one of the most enthusiastic of travellers, and a capital narrator, writes admirably descriptive letters to the N. Y. Tribune of his voyage up the Nile and his rambles about the countries which line its banks. We copy from his last letter, dated at KHARTOUM, Jan. 21, 1852, the following description of the Nile at the distance of two thousand miles from the point where it empties into the Mediterranean:

But the Nile is to me a source of greater interest than all the negro kingdoms between here and Timbuctoo. Here, two thousand miles from his mouth, I find his current as broad, as strong, as deep as at Cairo, and am no nearer the mystery of his origin. If I ascend the right of his two branches, I may follow his windings twelve hundred miles further and still find a broad and powerful stream, of whose source even the tribes that dwell in those far regions are ignorant. I am confident that when the problem of twenty centuries is solved, the entire length of the Nile will be found to be not less than four thousand miles, and he will then take his rank with the Mississippi and the Amazon—a sublime trinity of streams! There is, in some respects, a striking resemblance between the Nile and the former river. The Missouri is the true Mississippi, rolling the largest flood and giving his color to the mingled streams. So of the White Nile, which is broad and turbid, and pollutes the clear blue flood that has usurped his name and dignity. In spite of what geographers may say—and they are all so far from being united on the subject—the Blue Nile is not the true Nile. Here, at the point of junction, his volume of water is greater, but he is fresh from the mountains and constantly fed by large, unfailing affluents, while the White Nile has rolled for more than a thousand miles on nearly dead levels, through a porous, alluvial soil, in which he loses more water than he brings with him.

The Blue Nile, whose source the honest, longslandered Bruce did actually discover, rises near lat. 11° N. in the mountains of Gedjam, on the south-western frontier of Abyssinia. Thence it flows northward into the great lake of Dembea, or Tzana, near its southern extremity. The lake is shallow and muddy, and the river carries his clear flood through it without mixing. He then flows to the south and south-east, under the name of Tzana, along the borders of the kingdom of Shoa, to between lat. 9° and 9° 30', where he curves again to the north and finds his way through the mountains of Tazogl to the plains of Sennaar. His entire length cannot be less than eight hundred, and may perhaps reach a thousand miles. The steam is navigable as far as the mountains, about three hundred miles from this place, where it is interrupted by rapids. The Arabic name El Bahr el Azrek, means rather ‚black" than "blue," the term azrek being used with reference to objects of a dark blue-black color and besides, it is called black, in contradistinction to the Bahr el-Abiad, the white Nile. The boatmen here also frequently speak of the black river as he, and the white as she. When I asked the reson of this, they replied that it was because the former has a stronger current.

The White Nile has been ascended to lat. 4° N., where its tide is still so full and strong as to leave no doubt that its source is beyond the Equator. How the French traveller D'Abadie can boast of planting the tricolor at the fountains of the white Nile, in lat. 8° N., is beyond my comprehension. The most satisfactory account of the river is that given by Dr. Knoblecher, which was translated and published in The Tribune about a year ago. Werne's book is taken up with peevish comments on D'Arnaud and Sabatier, and the report of the former, as I learn from Dr. Knoblecher himself, is incorrect in many particulars. The great snow-mountain of Kilimanjaro, discovered in 1850 by Dr. Krapf, the German missionary, on his journey inland from Mombas, on the coast of Zanzibar, has been located by geographers in lat. 3° S. It is therefore most probable that the source of the White Nile will be found in the range of mountains, of which Kilimandjaro is the crowning apex. The geographer Berghaus, in a long and labored article which I read before leaving America, supposes the Bahr el-Ghazal (which flows into the White Nile, from the west, in lat 9° M.) to be the true Nile, and makes it rise in the great lake N'Yassa, in lat. 13° S. Dr. Knoblecher, however, who examined the Bahr el-Ghazal at its mouth, says it is an unimportant stream, with a scarcely perceptible current: at the limit of his voyage, the natives gave him to understand that as far as any of them had traveled to the south the White Nile was still broad and navigable. They also spoke of people white like himself, who lived far in that direction. I do not believe in the fable of a white civilized race in the interior of Africa, and consider this rather as referring to the Portuguese settlement on the coast of the Indian Ocean: reports of which would readily be carried inland, from one tribe to another. Dr. Knoblecher is of the opinion that no expedition from this point would be successful; that the traveler must first stop in the Bari country long enough to gain some knowledge of its people, and then, with a company of them as his attendants, make that his starting-point. Be that as it may, if I had sufficient means for the undertaking and this were the proper season, for starting, I should make the attempt. I have never yet found any difficulty in going where others have gone before me, and have some ambition to be the pioneer in a new path.

A BONELESS BODY.—The London papers describe an inquest held by the Coroner, on Elizabeth Vigors, aged 5 years. The body presented a horrible spectacle, being one lump of flesh, twisted and distorted. Deceased's father stated, that soon after her birth, a girl threw deceased over her back to the ground. Since the occurrence she assumed a curved position, could eat nothing but bread and butter—and when touched her bones appeared to snap. She had been under medical treatment for a long time, without deriving the least benefit. He found her dead in bed.—Mr. Harrison, surgeon, made a post mortem examination. There were no bones in the body; the limbs were merely of gristle. It was an aggravated case of what was called "rickets."

PROPRIETORS.
UNDER THE NAME AND FIRM OF
RUFUS KING & CO.

A SIGN IN "OLD VIRGINNY."

The New York Times of the 13th inst. publishes a letter from JOHN M. BOTTS, of Virginia, dated Washington May 3rd, which contains cheering evidence that even in Old Virginia there are sound and true Whigs to be found who will not consent to sacrifice the Whig party and dash the hopes of the whole country, by insisting that the Fugitive Slave Law shall be the be-all and the end-all of Whig principles and policy, and that every Whig candidate, for every office, at every election, County, State or National, shall swear fidelity to that test or be drummed out of camp as a deserter. Mr. BOTTS' letter will attract attention, as well because he is known all over the Union as a zealous, untiring and indomitable Whig, as that he is now one of the Delegates elect from the State of Virginia to the Whig National Convention, and hitherto claimed, together with his colleagues, as pledged to Mr. FILLMORE. We have not space for the whole letter, but extract one or two paragraphs as specimens of its temper and suggestions.

Mr. BOTTS thus rebukes those who insist upon "pledges" from WINFIELD SCOTT:

It is an outrage upon decency, justice and fair dealing that any man should, at this day, pretend to question the nationality or patriotism of Winfield Scott. I did not expect him to escape the animadversions, misrepresentations and abuse of the most unscrupulous portions of the Democratic press; but I do think his reputation is entitled to the respect and protection of every true and honest Whig.

Under the circumstances mentioned, he has come to the conclusion (and I incline to think wisely) that the true course for him to pursue is to publish nothing, unless he shall be the nominee; when, if the Convention shall adopt a course that will make his acceptance necessary, or otherwise afford him the opportunity, he will speak out freely and fully; and this would place him, in my opinion, in a more elevated position than if he were to permit himself now to be bullied into writing to receive the nomination.

He next considers and rejects the idea that the "Compromise" should be insisted upon in the Whig National Convention, as a "finality." Let Northern "doughfaces" read and ponder what he says on this point:

For my own part, I cannot perceive the wisdom of the South agitating this question at all, and especially of our agitating for the benefit of those whom we have labored for more than 20 years to defeat. I think the Compromise has no business in either the Whig or Democratic National Convention. The Fugitive law has passed; it remains not only unrepealed, but no proposition is made, nor as I believe ever will be made, to repeal it—and if it is, it cannot succeed. It is acquiesced in by the North more and more every day, and if the South will let it alone, all opposition to it will cease in two years. It has already been reaffirmed by the representative body that has been elected since its passage, and since the "appeal to the higher law" and I see no more propriety in pressing the North to the wall, on this subject, when they are submitting to the quiet and peaceable execution of the law, than there would be in requiring them to reaffirm the principles of the Missouri Compromise—which is quite as likely to be repealed as the Fugitive Slave Law.

Mr. BOTTS then proceeds to rebuke those Southern factionists who, while declaiming so loudly and so constantly against "Agitation" in the North, are themselves the most unreasonable and intemperate of Agitators at all times and places. Upon this point, too, both Northern and Southern Whigs may profitably read and heed what Mr. BOTTS says:

By the way, let me ask who are the agitators now? No matter which section presents this question, the other must, and will oppose it: how suppose those in favor of the repeal of the law, were to omit no opportunity when Northern and Southern men were collected together, to introduce resolutions declaring the Fugitive Slave law unconstitutional and unsatisfactory and that it ought to be repealed—would they not be denounced by the South as agitators and disturbers of the public peace? And if, on every like occasion, the South will persist in presenting resolutions of an opposite character, do they not themselves become agitators and disturbers of public repose? As long as we have the law, and it is executed, we should be satisfied. What more should we ask? What more have we a right to demand?

Lastly, Mr. BOTTS thus defines his own position as a Delegate, and in this speaks, no doubt, the sentiments of thousands of Virginia Whigs:

You are not to infer from anything that I have said, that I write as the partizan of General Scott. I write as a Whig, to do justice to the position of a true Whig that has been traduced and slandered; one that we may be called upon in a few weeks to support as the candidate of the party; organized whom malice has been fiercely at work, and one who will receive my ardent and earnest support if nominated by the National Convention.—As a delegate to that Convention, I shall support the man, that upon consultation with Whigs from every part of the Union, I shall believe to be the strongest, and most certain to bring victory to our flag, and defeat to the other side.

We are encouraged to believe, from this indication, that Gen. SCOTT will receive a fair vote from the South in the Whig National Convention, and will, in all probability, obtain the nomination on the first ballot. The political skies are bright with promise!

Doctors Disagree.

Our complacent friends of the Commercial can see nothing but peace and harmony in the condition of things in their party. According to them the members of the "democracy" par excellence are all a band of brothers. Here is the sweet picture which rises to our neighbor's mind as it contemplates the party:—

The Democrats are united upon principles and policy—divided only as to men. There is no conflicting counsels as to the course that is to be pursued—who shall be the leader is the only question. Every difference has been hushed—every division arranged—every strife composed. And whoever shall receive the nomination on the 1st of June, will carry the strength, the enthusiasm, and the hearty good will of the party with him to victory.

Per contra; it is strange that other "democratic" presses do not take the same view of matters. There is the New York Evening Post, for instance. In a recent leading article on the subject, that paper insists that there is no unanimity in the party itself upon the compromise bills; that its members, north and south, are doubly divided upon them; that, while a part of the south seek to make them living and vital principles of political action, and a part of the north have arrayed themselves at their side, an important portion of the party at the north are irreconcilably opposed to them from principle, and a corresponding portion of the south are still more bitter in their hostility.

The Post thinks there will be a bitter quarrel in the Baltimore Convention about contested seats, several double delegations having been chosen in Southern States. After considering several other points of difference, the Post approves of the following declaration of Mr. Forsyth, of Georgia:—

"The Democratic party is hopelessly divided (about the Compromise,) and that fact must be recognized by the Baltimore Convention in laying down its platform and putting up its candidates. If it does not, it takes no prophet's voice to tell the consequences."

And the same paper, after considering the state of things among the Whigs, says:—

"Under these circumstances there is no good ground for doubting that the Whigs will be united, and in a condition to make ready, if not quite, their entire party strength available; it is equally clear, therefore, that it will require the entire strength of their adversaries to defeat them.

This last view of the case does not occur to our neighbors of the Commercial. They see nothing but irreconcilable quarrels in our party. We can't help reminding them that just such a view of the case was taken before the Whig National Convention in 1848, and that, after all, all the defeating that the Whig party received was done before election. The ides of November told them, as they will tell now, a different story.

A CLEVER WOMAN.—The Commercial of yesterday acknowledges the receipt of a dollar from "a lady subscriber," who selects that paper because "she is fond of romance and thinks the democratic press deal very largely in that commodity."

The Homestead Bill.

The following is an abstract of the homestead bill, which passed the lower House of Congress, on the 12th, by the vote which we give below. It is thought to be doubtful as to its passage through the Senate:

The bill passed provides:

1st. That any person who is the head of a family and a citizen of the United States, or any person who had become a citizen prior to the first day of January, 1852, as required by the naturalization laws of the United States, shall from and after the passage of this act, be entitled to enter, free of cost, one quarter section of vacant unappropriated public lands, or a quantity equal thereto, to be located in a body, in conformity with the legal subdivision of the public lands, and after the same shall have been surveyed.

2d. The person applying for the benefit of the act to make an affidavit that he or she is the head of a family, and is not the owner of any estate in land at the time of such application, and has not disposed of any estate in land to obtain the benefit of the act.

3d Section refers to the duties of the land Registrar.

4th. The land acquired under provision of the act shall in no event become liable to the satisfaction of any debt or debts contracted prior to the issuing of the patent therefor.

5th. If at any time after filling the affidavit required, and before the expiration of five years it shall be proven that the person locating on such lands shall have changed his or her residence, or abandoned the said entry for more than six months at any one time, then the land to revert back to the Government, and be disposed of as other public lands are by law.

6th. If any individual, now a resident of any State or Territory, and not a citizen of the United States—but at the time of making application for the benefit of the act, shall have filed a declaration of intention so to do, as required by the naturalization laws of the United States, and shall become a citizen of the same before the issuing of the patent, as made out and provided for in this act, he shall be placed upon an equal footing with the native born citizen.

7th. No person is permitted to make more than one entry under this act.

The following is the vote on the final passage of the bill:—

"PEN AND INK SKETCH OF GEN. SCOTT."—Under this heading the Commercial of yesterday copies from Parson Brownlow's paper in Tennessee a very bitter, tho' very harmless diatribe against the illustrious American whom the Commercial styles "the conqueror of Soup and Mexico." No doubt our contemporary publishes this inky sketch in the belief that its readers are as ignorant as itself of Gen. SCOTT's great deeds, and need to be enlightened as to the grounds upon which his friends all over the Union are now urging his election to the Presidency. It will find, however, that tho' party leaders may ignore Gen. SCOTT's claims to the affectionate regards and heart-felt gratitude of his countrymen, and tho' party presses may sneer at his services and seek to blacken his fair fame, the AMERICAN PEOPLE know his career by heart; have watched him, with eager and unflagging interest, since the day that he first marshalled the undisciplined levies of the Republic against the tried and practised veterans of England, till that crowning triumph of his eventful life when he unfurled the Stars and Stripes in the Halls of the Montezumas; have proved him, in every post and under every circumstance, honest, capable and faithful to the Constitution, and intend, by the blessing of God, in November next, to bestow upon him the highest honor in their gift, the Presidency of the American Union.

The Position of the "Democracy"

The Detroit Free Press, Gen'l Cass's home organ, quotes and endorses as "an excellent article," an extract from the Louisiana Courier. We copy a couple of interesting paragraphs:

Every candidate that we have named for the Presidency—Cass of Michigan, Douglas of Illinois, Buchanan and Dallas of Pennsylvania, Wood of New York, Pierce of New Hampshire, Stockton of New Jersey, Allen of Ohio, Lane of Indiana—each and all of them, occupy now, and always have occupied, unexceptionable grounds in relation to the peculiar institutions of the South.

And again:

What white statesman in the non-northern or western States, where there is a constant struggle between the friends of the constitution and the disciples of fanaticism, can the same be said of?—Look over the list of all the great names in that party, from the Missouri to the Atlantic, and from Pennsylvania to the Canada line, and not one can be found whose antecedents and present position on the slavery question are satisfactory to the South.

ANNIVERSARIES IN NEW YORK.—The great religious and benevolent societies have just held their anniversaries. We find the following abstract of the reports of two of them:

American Tract Society.—New publications 96, 25 of them in foreign languages; circulation of publications 8,592,973; receipts during the year, $312,559; expenditures $342,199; colporteurs employed 613, 104 of them among the foreign emigrant population.

American Home Missionary Society.—In service during the year 1065 ministers, 533 of them in the Western States; pupils in Sunday hool 66,500; added to the churches 6,820; 45 new churches organized, and 42 assumed their own support; receipts $160,062; expenditures $162,-821.

GRIT.—The following card appears in a late number of the St. Louis Union. It is altogether probable that Judge Hough saw stars on the day indicated:

To Judge Hough, of the South-east Circuit:

SIR: I shall speak to the people at Jackson, Cape Girardeau county, on Saturday, the 15th inst. and shall mention your name in a way which will concern both the public and yourself, and give you this notice of my intention, that you may attend if you please, and hear what is said, and answer, if you think proper, when I am done.

Yours, THOS. H. BENTON.

St. Louis, May 9th, 1852.

SALE OF FAT CATTLE.—We learn that 29 head of Cattle were purchased at Waukesha on Tuesday last for the New York Market. They were in good condition, and the price paid was $3,50 per 100 lbs standing. The lot averaged a trifle over $50 per head, and one yoke brought $135. There is no sweeter, or tenderer beef in the world than our prairie-fed cattle yield, and the ever unsatisfied maw of the New York Market will make the traffic in this stock an important one to Wisconsin.

QUICK TIME.—According to the South Bend Register, it is intended, on the completion of the Southern Michigan road, to put travellers through to New York by that route in a day and a half from Chicago. By leaving this city at evening if proper arrangements are made, travellers can reach New York city by bed time of the second night after, or in two days.

THE SHORTEST ROUTE.—The subject of the Northern railroad or extension of the Pontiac R. R. is again exciting interest in Michigan. That road once completed, and we have a route, by which we can reach New York city in less than two days.

THE SCHOOL FUND.

Messrs. Editors:—Is it true that the present State officers have loaned considerable sums of the School money, to some of their predecessors in office, and that large amounts are promised for the future? The way it is stated to be done is through the use of the names of third parties.—If this is true, the people of the State should know it, and be told for what especial services these favors are rendered. Great People's Festival in Milwaukee.

The German citizens of Milwaukee propose to celebrate in common with their fellow-citizens at large, a grand People's-Festival, with a view to introduce here a beautiful old German custom. This proposal has met with universal favor, especially as it affords an agreeable opportunity for the reunion of families, the renewal of old friendship, the contracting of new ones, and the free interchange of kindly feelings and sentiments between persons separated by residence, by interest, or by other accidents of life. The invitation to participate in the festivities is extended generally to all the citizens of our own, as well as neighboring states.

Nothing will be left undone by the Committee of Arrangements, to render this a worthy festival, and it will be their especial care to make it popular, and to free it from every trace of exclusive partisan, or sectional character.

Spring Street Hill, the most suitable place in Milwaukee, has been selected as the site for the festival, and the common Council are requested to aid the Committee in the preservation of order.

The festival takes place on Monday, May 31st, 1852.

The order of the opening exercises will be as follows:

1. At one o'clock P. M., Instrumental Music, and a chorus sung by the united Musical Societies in this city.
2. Addresses in German.
3. Music—Instrumental and vocal.
4. Addresses in English.
5. Music—instrumental and vocal.

After these preliminary exercises there will be public games, such as are usually met with at popular festivals. The committee of arrangements will, in this particular, do all in their power to satisfy the curiosity of all who love to look and laugh.

The festival proper will be closed at 8 o'clock in the evening, after which, there will be grand balls in various parts of the city.

The Committee respectfully invite all, far and near, to participate in these festivities and to aid in the celebration of a holiday, whose true beautiful significance can only be realized in a land of freedom.

At the same time the Committee especially and earnestly invite all neighboring musical and vocal societies to join those of this city, and aid them in enhancing the glory of the occasion.

By order of the Committee.
H. HAERTEL, President.

Mr. Lord's Second Lecture.

Mr. LORD's lecture on Thursday evening, owing to the storm, was not so largely attended as was the first, although a very respectable audience was present. We have but brief space to notice the lecture, the subject of which was the "Huguenots of France." He held the audience with undiminished interest for nearly two hours, while he noted the state of things in the early part of 16th century, which led to the struggle of the Huguenots for their existence. His sketches of the Kings of France involved in the history, down to and including Charles IX, were brief, but admirably drawn; but the most vivid specimen of word—painting we ever listened to, was his delineation of the character of the infamous Catharine de Medici, mother of Charles IX and Francis II, and the author of the awful massacre of St. Bartholomew; and the scenes of that bloody night were depicted in all their horrors.

The portrait of the gallant Henry of Navarre—his early training—his bravery—his adoption as the Protestant champion—his career as a King—his famous edict of toleration, and its effects, were all well drawn. The battle of Ivry, which decided the contest and placed Henry on the throne of France, was described at some length, and the lecturer repeated several stanzas of Macaulay's thrilling poem, which we publish in another column of to-day's paper.

Henry's character was not drawn so as to present the high motives, or high virtues which distinguished Gustavus Adolphus, and the lecturer dwelt, with considerable emphasis, on his yielding to policy, and professing the Catholic faith, so as to secure the crown. He thought that, as a Protestant monarch, he would, of course, have given toleration to all of his subjects; but that in such case, the state of affairs would never have become such as to allow of the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, which opened again the scenes of persecution.

The lecture was strongly, unmistakeably, Protestant in its tone, and, so far as we know, surprised no one by its bold declarations and arguments against another system of religious belief, which, as Mr. LORD considered, led to the enactment of the persecutions referred to. But so far as his subjects lead him into the field of controversy, he wars with systems, not with men, and denounces wrong, wherever it occurs, among the adherents of whatever faith.

IRVING BOOK STORE.—The season advertisement of this extensive establishment will be found in our columns. Although it tells its own story, we take pleasure in adding our testimony to the extent and variety of the stock on hand at the Irving Bookstore—to its excellent selection of valuable books, and particularly to the works calculated to be useful for school libraries, this latter being a branch of the business to which great attention has been paid. Our citizens will find Mr. PERRY, the managing partner here, gentlemanly and accommodating at all times, and will be glad to make his acquaintance.

NEW HALL.—Mr. Young, the proprietor of the fine block of buildings burned last winter, is fast pushing forward the work again. He intends to complete this season only the eastern half of the block, containing three or four stores, and a large lecture room 50 feet square below, and above, a splendid Hall, 120 by 52 ft., and about 26 feet in height, with the necessary ante-rooms, &c. It will be finished in handsome style, and seat 16 to 1800 people. It will be completed before next winter. The walls are built in a substantial manner, and the building will reflect great credit upon Mr. Young for his perseverance and good taste.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Hiram Perry vs. Cicero Comstock et. al. This case has now reached the fifth day; will be concluded to-morrow. Arnold for plff. Brown & Randall for deft.

Mary F. Made vs. Chas. M. Knox et. al.—Motion for new trial overruled, and judgment for plff. upon verdict. Brown & Ogden for plff. Arnold for deft.

PROPOSALS WANTED.—The attention of contractors is invited to the advertisement of Mr. LOCKWOOD, for proposals for excavating 6 miles of trenches for the gas pipes. The work on the buildings is going on steadily, and we shall have an illumination somewhere about the ides of November.

HELP THE POOR.—the Free Democrat is informed that a family of English emigrants, who have lately arrived, are lying in a house on Main St. opposite the German Catholic Church, in a state of great distress. The attention of the charitably disposed is invited to their case.

COMMON COUNCIL.—A special meeting of the Common Council is to be held at their rooms in Martin's Block this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Gen. Scott on Slavery.

The following is the letter, written by Gen'l Scott to Mr. Atkinson of Va., in 1843, which has been republished of late, and which is reported by telegraph to be a new letter, written with reference to present circumstances:

Washington, Feb. 9, 1843.

DEAR SIR:—I have been waiting for an evening's leisure to answer your letter before me, and, after an unreasonable delay, am at last obliged to reply in the midst of official occupations.

That I have ever been named in connection with the Presidency of the United States, has not, I can assure you, the sanction of an ancient neighbor and friend, been by any desire or contrivance of mine: and certainly I shall never be in the field for that high office unless placed there by a regular nomination. Not, then, been a candidate, and seeing no near prospect of being made one, I ought perhaps to decline troubling you or others with my humble opinions on great principles of State rights and federal administration: but as I cannot plead ignorance of the partiality of a few friends, in several parts of the Union, who have, by possibility, in a certain event, succeed in bringing me within the field from which a Whig candidate is to be selected, I prefer to err on the side of frankness and candor, rather than, by silence, to allow any stranger unwittingly to commit himself to my support.

Your inquiries open the whole question of domestic slavery which has, in different forms, for a number of years, agitated Congress and the country.

Promising that you are the first person who has interrogated me on the subject, I give you the basis of what would be my reply in general detail, if time allowed and the contingency alluded to were less remote.

In boyhood, at William and Mary College, and in common with most, if not all my companions, I became deeply impressed with the views given by Mr. Jefferson, in his "Notes on Virginia," and by Judge Tucker, in the Appendix to his edition of Blackstone's Commentaries, in favor of a gradual emancipation of slaves. That Appendix I have not seen in thirty-odd years, and in the same period have read scarcely anything on the subject; but my early impressions are fresh and unchanged. Hence, if I had had the honor of a seat in the Virginia Legislature in the winter of 1831-32, when a bill was brought forward to carry out those views, I should certainly have given it my hearty support.

I suppose I scarcely need say that, in my opinion, Congress has no color of authority, under the Constitution, for touching the relation of master and slave within a State. I hold the opposite opinion in respect to the District of Columbia.—Here, with the consent of the owners, or on the payment of "just compensation," Congress may legislate at its discretion. But my conviction is equally strong that as it botch by statute with the Legislatures of Virginia and Maryland, it would be dangerous to both races in those States to touch the relation between master and slave in this District.

I have from the first been of opinion that Congress was bound by the Constitution to receive, to refer, and to report upon petitions relating to domestic slavery as in the case of all other petitions; but I have not failed to see and regret the unavoidable irritation which the former have produced in the Southern States, with the consequent peril to the colored race whereby the adoption of any plan of emancipation has every where among us been greatly retarded.

I own, myself, no slave; but never have attached blame to masters for not liberating their slaves—knowing that liberation, without sending them in comfort to some position favorable to the "pursuit of happiness," would, in most cases, be highly injurious to all around, as well as to the manumitted families themselves—unless the operation were general and under the auspices of prudent legislation. But I am persuaded that it is a high moral obligation of masters and Slaveholding States to employ all means, not incompatible with the safety of both colors, to meliorate slavery even to extermination.

There is no evil without, in the order of Providence, some compensating benefit. The bleeding African was torn from his savage home by his ferocious neighbors, sold into slavery, and cast upon this continent. Here in the mild South the race has wonderfully multiplied, compared with any thing ever known in barbarous life.—The descendants of a few thousands have become many millions; and all from the first made acquainted with the arts of civilization, and, above all, brought under the light of the gospel.

It is gratifying to know that general meliorations has been great, and is still progressing, notwithstanding the disturbing causes alluded to above. The mere direct process of emancipation may, no doubt, be earlier commenced and quickened in some communities than in others. Each, I do not question, has the right to judge for itself, both as to time and means, and I consider interference or aid from without, except on invitation from authority within, to be as hurtful to the sure progress of meliomation, as it may be fatal to the lives of vast multitudes of all ages, sexes and colors.—The work of liberation must be forced without these horrid results. Christian philanthropy is ever mild and considerate. Hence all violence ought to be deprecated by all friends of religion and humanity. Their persuasions cannot fail, at the right time, to free the master from the slave and the slave from the master; perhaps before the latter shall have found out and acknowledged that the relation between the parties had long been mutually prejudicial to their worldly interests.

From the promise made to Abraham, some 2000 years had elapsed before the advent of our Saviour, and the Israelites, the chosen people of God, were, for wise purposes, suffered to remain in bondage longer than the Africans have been on our shores. This race has already experienced the resulting compensation alluded to; and, as the white missionary has never been able to penetrate the dark regions of Africa, or to establish himself in its interior, it may be within the scheme of Providence that the great work of spreading the Gospel over that vast continent, with all the arts and comforts of civilization, is to be finally accomplished by the black man restored to his fatherland. A foothold there has already been gained for him, and in such a scheme centuries are but seconds to Him who moves the world as man moves a finger.

I do but suggest the remedies and consolations of Slavery, to inspire patience, hope, and charity on all sides. The mighty subject calls for the exercise of all man's wisdom and virtue, and these may not suffice without aid from a higher source.

It is in the foregoing manner, my dear Sir, that I have long been in the habit, in conversation, of expressing myself, over all our common country, on the question of Negro Slavery, and I must say that I have found but very few persons who differ with me, however opposite their geographical positions.

Such are the views or opinions you seek. I cannot suppress or mutilate them, although now liable to be more generally known. Do with them as you please. I neither court, nor shun publicity.

I remain, very truly, yours,
WINFIELD SCOTT.

T. P. ATKINSON, Esq., Danville, Va.

THE Washington Correspondent of the Philadelphia North American, a well informed and sagacious politician, makes the following confident prediction as to the result of the coming Presidential Election:

"It is as fixed as the decrees of fate, that Winfield Scott will be nominated for President by the Whig National Convention at Baltimore, and will be elected in November next by a vote North, and South, and East and West, that will astound even his most sanguine supporters. In less than six months this prediction will be fulfilled. In the fullness of faith I abide the result; and if our Democratic friends are skeptical on this subject, and will name any candidate on their side in opposition, they can have the chance of improving their fortunes by certifying their confidence."

ESCAPE OF MEAGHER.—The N. Y. Truth Teller has the following extract from a private letter, dated on board a British ship at Hobart Town, January 18, which seems to confirm the rumor that Thomas F. Meagher, the Irish Exile, had made his escape:

"Meagher has made his escape from this—some say he has broken his parole, others say not. He wrote to the Police Magistrate of his District, to say that he did not wish his leave extended. Some say he left before the letter was delivered; others say he did not, but that he remained until a person who was sent to watch him came to his house. He came out and asked the man whether he wanted him. He said 'No.' He then went into the house and escaped through the back way. In two hours after some Police came to arrest him, but the bird had flown. And so the case stands."

EXPRESS AND EXCHANGE COMPANY.—A joint stock association, under the name of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, has been formed with a capital of $400,000, for the purpose of carrying on an Express and Exchange business in and between New York and the principal cities and towns of California.—Col Edwin B. Morgan, of Aurora, in Cayuga county, an old and esteemed merchant, has been chosen president of the company, which is composed of men of character and wealth, long and successfully connected with the express, banking and general commercial business of the country.—Roch. Dem.

A FLOATING COFFIN.—Some day last week a boat was picked up in the lake by a few fishermen from this place, containing the corpse of a Norwegian woman, who for a long time since had been insane.

It appears by the coroner's inquest, that she must have stepped into the boat, been carried off into the lake, and died from hunger and cold. Her earthly remains were interred at this place.—Sheboygan Newsboy.

THE MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL,
MILWAUKEE, May 20, 1852.

We have nothing worthy of note in the market, except the sale of 4000 bu of oats, free on board, at 21c.

The propeller Ogdensburg was to load last night with 1000 bbls flour from Wells & Hill, for Boston.

The schooner Sam Hale was loaded yesterday afternoon at Williams & Co's dock, and sailed last night. She had on board 16,000 bu oats and 400 bbls pork.

Freight to Buffalo are 40c ₱ bbl for flour and 60c for pork. To Boston, via Ogdensburg, 130c for flour.

THE CANAL SECURITIES.—The Court of Appeals having decided that the Canal Enlargement Law of the special Legislative Session is unconstitutional, no movement has taken place in that class of Securities. These Bonds, however, are usually in the hands of the Comptroller or Superintendent of the Banking Department, having been deposited by the various free Banks; and as the State has received full value for them, no loss will ultimately accrue to the Banks, as the DAILY SENTINEL.

From New Mexico.

By the steamer Timour No. 2, from the Missouri river, we have received Santa Fe papers of the 10th ult, and one or two letters from New Mexico though not of recent date.

The Gazette, of the 3d, puts a complete damper on the statements in relation to the mineral wealth of the Rio Gila, of which before we had very flattering accounts. Persons who were engaged in the expedition to the Rio Gila report, after a personal examination, that there is not the slightest reason, either from history or tradition, to believe that gold and precious stones abound there.

The Gazette publishes a letter from Gov. Calhoun addressed to Thos. Ortiz, prefect of Santa Fe county, which certainly exhibits a curious state of affairs in New Mexico. It is in these words:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. } March 31, 1852. }

SIR:—Moved by a regard for the protection of property, I would respectfully recommend that you establish a temporary police. For the want of funds to maintain them, and upon the representation of the proper officers that the prisoners now in jail are in a starving condition, through a humane feeling towards said prisoners and community, I have granted them a conditional pardon. This release may render precautionary steps advisable for a few nights.

Respectfully,
J. S. CALHOUN.

From a private letter, written at Santa Fe, on the 9th of April, we learn that Gov. Calhoun, who had then been dangerously sick, expected to leave for the United States in about two weeks, but it was exceedingly doubtful whether he would be able to bear the fatigues of the journey. The people of Santa Fe were much excited by apprehensions of insurrectionary movements, and it was even said that the night of the 11th was assigned for an attack upon "the Exchange," as the commencement of these proceedings. The military officer, in command of some thirty men, was, however, acquainted with their plans and was prepared for them.

Mr. Wm. Allen, late Secretary of the Territory of New Mexico, was in the neighborhood and was expected to arrive at Independence last Sunday or Monday. If so, he will be here to-day or to-morrow.—St. Louis Rep.

THE ROTHSCHILD LOTTERY—SINGULAR BELIEF.—The authorities of Posen (says the London Times correspondent) have enough to do to answer the strange applications that are sometimes made to them by the Polish and German peasantry. The idea that has got abroad among them of the vast grants of land Kossuth has received from the "King of America," does not stand alone; another impression that has taken root in their minds is much more extraordinary for some time past the officials have received numbers of applications from them in a "Rothschild Lottery," of which they of course know nothing; but on inquiry, it was found the peasants have been persuaded that the "great Rothschild", has been sentenced to be beheaded! But from his intimate relations with the European monarchs he has been allowed to procure a substitute (if he can) by lottery! For this purpose a sum of many millions is devoted, all the tickets to be prize of 3,000 thalers each except one that fatal number 13 which will be drawn by whoever draws it to be decapitated instead of the celebrated banker! Notwithstanding the risk, the applicants for shares have been numerous, and the officials are scarcely believed when they explain to the deluded people that the lottery is a fiction. The origin of the absurd report cannot be traced, but it has given the authorities a good deal of trouble. The journals lament that any part of the population should be in such a state of ignorance as to render belief in such a story possible.

UNGRATEFUL SON.—The following is clipped from the Senate proceedings of Friday, as reported in the Journal. The statement of the petitioners is too revolting to be thought true of any human being:

Mr. Mack, from the committee on Public Benevolent Institutions, to whom was referred the petition of the Trustees of Manitou township, in Portage county, in reference to a case which they state thus: "An unnatural son, residing in this township, who is worth at least $30,000 turned his old Mother away, like an old horse to die, a few years ago. She was then supported at public expense, and is now dead! Last January, his aged Father, a helpless and dependent old man, whose head was whitened with the snows of 91 winters, was consigned, by this brute of a son, to the county poor-house!" On which the Trustees pray for a law to compel children, who are able, to take care of their helpless parents—reported they think such case should be regulated by public opinion. They remarked that they thought such sentiment by children was evidence of God bringing up. They asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.—Cleveland Herald.

Washington, May 14.

The appointment of the following consuls were confirmed, Henry Monroe, at Aspinwall, New Grenada; Mr. Waltory, at Curacon; Spiridion Lodico at Port Mahone; John Morandi at Port Denin; Joseph Henriques, at Melborne, Australia; Judah Levy, at Lehuan, Morocco, Manuel Barcena, at Vigo, Spain; Francis Ogden, at Manchester, England; Geo. B. Sergeant, as Surveyor of Wisconsin; Hiercon B. Reading, Indian agent for California.

☞ "You've destroyed my peace of mind, Betsy," said a desponding lover to a truant lass. "It can't do you much harm, John, for 'twas an amazing small piece you had, any way," was the quick reply.

NEW

CHEAP CASH STORE!

THE attention of the public has already been called to that BEAUTIFUL STORE, corner of East Water and Michigan streets, known as the PHŒNIX BUILDING, which magnificent apartment is now occupied by the undersigned, in order to keep pace with the times, and supply the wants of his numerous customers, and is daily being filled with an immense stock of

Entirely New & Fashionable Cheap Goods,

Which, from his long experience in the trade, enables him to select with direct reference to the wants of his various customers. Having facilities at least equal to his competitors for purchasing Goods, he doubts not but that the QUALITY, STYLE AND PRICE, coupled with unremitting exertions on his part, will enable him to SELL and gratify the wishes of adhering, as formerly, to the

One Price Cash System,

Relying rather upon LARGE SALES and SMALL PROFITS, than the old and present system of too many, whose motto is the reverse. Those who are in want of

CHEAP FALL & WINTER GOODS,

Are invited to look in at our NEW STORE, where it will be a pleasure for us to show them a beautiful assortment of New Goods, which cannot be excelled for

RICHNESS, BEAUTY & VARIETY.

NOTICE.

BOSTON, July 1, 1851.
JAMES C. MERRILL, Jr., ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, has this day, admitted in to partnership Mr. GUSTAV VON DEUTSCH, recently a member of the legal profession in Germany.
BOSTON, April 5th, 1852.
THE undersigned hereby respectfully give notice that Mr. Von Deutsch has just returned from Germany, where he has been for the last seven months for the express purpose of obtaining correspondents and forming business connexions with the principal members of the legal profession throughout that country.
The advantages acquired by an extensive correspondence and by familiarity with the principles and practice of the law in both countries, furnish us with peculiar facilities for attending to all kinds of business between this country and Germany, especially to the settlement of estates and the prosecution and collection of claims upon parties in either country, and we trust will justify us in the expectation that we shall be able to give satisfaction to all those who may favor us with their business.
JAMES C. MERRILL, Jr.,
GUSTAV VON DEUTSCH.
N. B.—Particular attention is given to the care and safe investment of personal property for parties residing in any part of the United States, as well as in Germany. All communications should be addressed to "James C. Merrill, Jr., Boston, Massachusetts," or to "Mr. Gustav von Deutsch, care of James C. Merrill, Jr., Boston, Mass." apr26 2nd

THE WORLD'S FAIR
PREMIUM SAFES.
DEPOT,
Green Block, Water St.,
(Between Maiden Lane and Wall Street,)
NEW YORK.

THE SUBSCRIBER PLACED HIS FIRE AND BURGLAR-Proof Iron Safe in competition with the whole world at the great Exhibition in London, for which an impartial jury awarded a medal.
The American Institute, held last fall at Castle Garden, also awarded to him a gold medal for the best Fire-Proof Safe, and he has never failed to obtain the highest premium when his Safes have been put in competition with others for that purpose. Certificates have been received from the following well-known mercantile houses, who have had their books, papers and money preserved in these safes through the late fires (and in some instances two and three times), which can be seen at my store,) viz. Messrs. Stillwell & Montrose, and Mr. J. L. Watkins, in the Fulton Street fire; Messrs. Risley & Robinson, and Mr. John Haviland & Co., in the great fire corner of Liberty and Nassau Streets, and Messrs. Freud & Bowman, in Jersey City.
I am the proprietor of HALL'S PATENT LOCK, which obtained a medal in the name of Adams & Co., Boston, at the World's Exhibition, and is considered the best Lock for the price, ever invented, being proof against powder and the key is no larger than a cent, and can be made changeable.
I invite all purchasers to a close and careful inspection before purchasing, and decide for themselves, who makes the best Fire, Burglar and Damp-Proof safes combined.

SALAMANDER SAFES.
WILDER'S PATENT AND RICH'S PATENT COMBINED.
$100,000 SAVED.

FIRE in Pearl Street and Fletcher Street, New York.—Three Stores and their contents destroyed. Death before words!
RICH'S SAFES AGAIN!
ELEVEN SAFES of different makers consumed, with their contents! The Safe made by Rich & Co. defied the flames and brought out its contents without a mark of fire upon them!
MR. GILBERT'S LETTER.
THE FIRE IN FLETCHER AND PEARL-STS., NEW YORK.
New York, Dec. 26, 1851.
MESSRS. STEARNS and MARVIN, successors to C. Mott & Co., No. 116, Water Street, New York.—Sirs, when the fire was consuming my place of Business, No. 216, Pearl Street, I was absent in Rensiaer County, testing a new cleaning apparatus in connection with my Excelsior Threasher, and did not read the account until I was fearful it was too late to save my books which were placed in one of your safes, purchased from Mr. Marvin some years ago. My fears were not allayed when I found it necessary upon my return to apply the Croton Water 40 hours before I was enabled to commence operations; after which it required 54 hours of labor and application to raise the Salamander from its ashy bed. You may judge of my anxiety during this delay, and my agreeable surprise upon opening the safe in the presence of a number of gentlemen, to find my books and papers saved, and as legible as they were previous to the fire. The intense heat to which the Safe was subjected, can be conjectured from the condition of another safe, (not a Salamander) of which an iron skeleton frame only remained, and not a vestige of a book. They were companions in the same office, on the second floor, from which they fell upon crates of earthen ware in the cellar, the ruined safe upon the Salamander. Hitherto position had been reversed, not even the shelving would have remained. My loss over the insurance is $1,000, yet the valuation of my books in your Salamander, with the representative of 100,000 dollars, and important documents which could not be duplicated, has fully compensated me.
It will afford me great pleasure to exhibit the new safe purchased of you, and explain its merits, at my present office, No. 251 Pearl street, where I shall remain until the new building, No. 216, is erected.
Yours respectfully, JOSEPH G. GILBERT.
The undersigned invite country merchants and those interested in the preservation of their books from fire, (but particularly those attending Hall's safe trial,) to call at the depot 146 Water street, New York, or see the inferior of Mr. Gilbert's safe with the books undisturbed, which he has kindly permitted to remain for the satisfaction and gratification of the public.

MISCELLANEOUS.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!

THE following advertisement was published in May, 1849, in the "Boston Daily Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "GREENE STATIONARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUEING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:

"PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the Stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off by on several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now offered by several pretending inventors, described in the 10th volume of the Repertory of Arts, invented by Samuel Bentham, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Kugler, some six teen years since, and another one put up by Albert Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned about the same time. It ought to satisfy the public to know that after eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.

I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.
JAMES G. WILSON.
May 19, 1849.

I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine as mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1848, and no machine before this could do more than eight, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border st., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

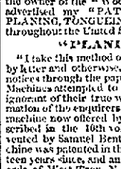
REMOVAL.
P. W. BADGLEY,



HAS removed to his New Stores, four doors North of his former location, to Nos. 103 & 105, E. Water-st.,
where he has on hand a very heavy stock of GROCERIES, and would invite the store wishing to purchase goods to follow in pursuit, and favor him with an inspection before purchasing.
It has not only been the aim of the subscriber to sell as low as any other similar establishment in the West, but to convince purchasers that he cannot will sell as low as Jobbers or Grocers in New York—and why not? The subscriber has been engaged in the Wholesale Grocery Business in New York for six years prior to opening in this market. His experience and facilities enable him to buy from the same parties the Jobbers of New York buy from. He will hold himself in readiness to duplicate any retail merchant's purchases in New York—adding necessary expenses.
His stock on hand consists in part as follows:
90 hhds Brown Sugars, various grades.
4 puncheons St. Croix and Jamaica Rum.
50 pipes Port, Madeira, Malaga and Sherry Wine.
150 bbls Ohio and Burlie Whiskey.

Pork, Hams, Shoulders, and Lard,
of his own curing.
Also agent for the sale of the celebrated Tiger Mill
POWDER AND LAMP OILS.
It is the object of the subscriber to have at all times a stock that will attract the attention of cash purchasers.
The subscriber would tender his services for the liberal manner he has been patronized for the last six years, and hopes to merit a continuation by strict attention to the interests and wants of his customers. All orders entrusted to him to fill will meet with the same attention as if present.
For references inquire of his old customers, who are numerous and easy to be found.

WATER-CURE ESTABLISHMENT,
BRATTLEBORO', VERMONT.
THE Proprietor, DR. R. WISSELHOEFT, begs leave to inform the public, that he has recovered from his severe sickness, and is able again to attend to his professional duties. Formerly he used to receive patients from all parts of the country, depending upon his giving due attention to their cases. They will find as comfortable and pleasant accommodations both for themselves and friends, but will please to remember that the establishment is intended for the cure of diseases by means of water, and not for a hotel or a fashionable watering place. Yet, to the lovers of nature and a quiet summer residence, few places can be found more beautiful. We are in error, for Nature has indeed been lavish of her gifts on the town, and the walks and drives in the vicinity.

G. GRÆSSLE'S
PRESSED, FIRE-PROOF TILING.
CERTIFICATES OF RECOMMENDATION.

BY the present, I attest my entire satisfaction with the roof of my house, covered with the pressed, fire-proof Tile, invented by Mr. Græssle, having found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and excellent construction recommend this kind of Tile, not only as a fire proof and perfectly water-proof covering, but above all for its durability. The ridges and chanels not only exclude the entering of snow or rain-water, but by their firm and precise joining of one into the other, they give to the roof the as well as the whole a substantially movable position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Græssle's method of burning the Tiles, deprives them of the injurious tendency to absorb moisture, making them not only durable; and adding to the above another virtue, viz. that of dispensing with repairs. The undersigned therefore consider ourselves fully justified in recommending to the building community the above proof-ing. The as an excellent and valuable material.
